Anissa BALI is a Partner in the Employment and Social department. She joined the firm in 2016, bringing with her extensive experience in Luxembourg law firms, particularly in the field of labour law.

Anissa is specialised in all aspects of employment law and advises national and international clients for 20 years. She particularly focuses on employment contracts, individual terminations, transfers of undertakings, international mobility (work permit, posting of workers, supply of manpower) and working time. She works with clients to implement internal policies adapted to the specific sector and business needs of the company. She is also highly specialised in harassment at the workplace and whistleblowing issues. Anissa provides high quality support and adapted solutions to clients, as well as pragmatic recommendations.

In addition to her legal practice, she is also a lecturer in labour and immigration law at the Chambre de Commerce and provides in-house training to her clients.
